

Benefits of Membership

American Association of Service Coordinators (AASC) exists to provide you with the resources necessary to stay at the forefront of the service coordinator profession.

Here are some of the many benefits membership in AASC provides:

- AASC Service Coordinator Program Manual -Free to AASC members!

AASC members are entitled to download the Service Coordinator Program Manual: Recommended Standards of Practice for Service Coordinators Working in Affordable Housing for the Elderly, free of charge through the members' only section of the website- www.servicecoordinator.org.

Service Coordinator Forms Pack 1: 30 customizable service coordination program forms available on a CD-ROM. These forms not only complement the Service Coordinator Program Manual: Recommended Standards of Practice for Service Coordinators Working in Affordable Housing for the Elderly, but also provide important tools for service coordinators serving families. Available to members at a discount.

- PSC Certificate Program

The Professional Service Coordinator (PSC) certificate program is a web-based study program offered in conjunction with the Ohio State University, specific to service coordination. The PSC program offers more than 44 total CEUs (NASW approved). Housing owners and managers are already stating a preference for PSCs, so don't be left behind. AASC members receive a discount. Please visit <http://aasc.osu.edu> for more information.

- AASC Online

AASC members receive significant discounts on this web-based database tool for resident files and reports such as HUD's performance report. This revolutionary tool is significantly impacting the service coordinator profession. For more information, visit www.aasconline.com.

- Regular Communications

Timely and pertinent information is communicated through weekly E-bulletins, quarterly electronic newsletters and Action Alerts. To ensure you are receiving these benefits, please visit the "Members' Only" section of the AASC website and confirm your email address in your member profile.

- Education and Training

The National Service Coordinator Conference, recognized as the premier training event of the year for service coordinators, offers excellent networking opportunities and up to 19 CEUs. Each year's conference is filled with information for all experience levels.

For more information, visit our website at www.aascconference.org. Members get a discount on conference registration fees.

AASC Webinars-- fast, fun and affordable training delivered right to your desktop. Offered twice a month, each webinar includes a PowerPoint presentation that is delivered over the Internet to your computer and registrants are able to hear the presenter via their computer or telephone. To see the most recent schedule of webinar topics, visit www.servicecoordinator.org.

- Public Policy and Advocacy

AASC works closely with members of Congress and federal agencies to provide input on legislation and policies affecting service coordinators. In addition, AASC holds Leadership Forums where our members have the opportunity to be educated about current public policy issues, efforts and tips for contacting their congressional representatives. And we keep members abreast of changes in regulations affecting their jobs as well as legislation affecting their residents.

- Chapters

AASC now has official chapters in Ohio, Alabama, Tennessee, Colorado, Florida, New Jersey, and the Mid-Atlantic (Maryland, Virginia and Washington, DC).

Do you have an existing group of service coordinators who meet regularly? Have you ever considered developing a state chapter of AASC? If you are interested in receiving more information about becoming a chapter, contact us at info@servicecoordinator.org.

For a complete listing of member benefits or to join the American Association of Service Coordinators, visit www.servicecoordinator.org or contact us at 614-848-5958 or info@servicecoordinator.org.